FIRM JOINS PLACER BAR

AUBURN, CA- Morrison Forensic announces the establishment of its forensic real estate consulting and legal support advisory in the Sierra Mountain Counties and Sacramento Valley.

With an increase in real estate litigation due to sale or lease conflict, fraud, kickback schemes and the changing economic climate, Morrison Forensic provides attorneys and business with real estate intelligence (research and information), expert witness services, asset search, investigation, evidence analysis, litigation support and consulting.

James Macdonell, principal of Morrison Forensic, estimates that he has worked with over 1,000 brokers in over thirty states each with differing real estate customs, laws, and transactional nuances.

He represented and notably negotiated over fifty Charles Schwab Company office facilities in such varied locations as Manhattan, Boston, Chicago, Houston and Los Angeles. "Our unique experience was acquired by working with hundreds of very bright corporate attorneys and corporate real estate professionals in many different challenging real estate environments" said Macdonell. "We've seen every trick in the book".

"Our comprehensive services are geared toward real estate and non-real estate attorneys who outsource their real estate work. Our professional services are not just a matter of researching public records. We are experts at market intelligence, examining and investigating standard or complex real estate matters from every angle including the transaction, correspondence, materials, contracts, disclosures, and the associated subjects and people. We essentially become an outsource for all real estate needs" Macdonell says.

James Macdonell currently operates both commercial and residential real estate brokerages and has represented Staples Office Products, Smart & Final Stores, FedEx Kinko's, Sutter Health, First Union/Wacovia Bank merger, Rite Aid Stores, Best Western and Food 4 Less.
